

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Past image point information is also considered as well as local neighboring image point information in the interpolation of a predicted picture for motion-compensated prediction of moving pictures with increased resolution.

- 5 Motion-compensated image point information is used in the interpolation raster between the scanned values of the reference picture ($s'(t-1)$) for the predicted picture of increased resolution.